

Experience of High School English Learning Methods and Thinking

Xinda He

(Dingfeng Art High School , Wuhu , 241000)

Abstract: Mathematics, English, Chinese as the three main subjects in high school stage, the importance in learning is self-evident. Compared with English learning, which has a certain degree of difficulty, the main reason for this situation is that it does not have good learning methods and the cognition of English subject is not comprehensive and profound enough. We should not allow the situation of poor learning effect to develop, we should actively seek more suitable learning methods, to achieve the effective improvement of English performance. By analyzing the experience of high school English learning methods, it ' s hope that this paper could be helpful to the high school students of English learning.

Key words: high school English; learning method; experience and thinking

From the requirements of the college entrance examination in the past two years, there is no shortcut ,only way is to read more about English knowledge; The most used method is word memory method, also pay more attention to learning schedule. In grammar, we need to do more special exercises in close connection with some relevant knowledge points. In terms of reading , we need to improve daily reading exercises and enlarge reading to help us to develop English language intuition; In writing expression, it ' s based on the model article and prepare for lasting exercises; In listening training, we need to stick to 20~30 minutes listening every day, at the same time, speaking practice is also an effective way to improve listening.

1. An effective way to promote high school English learning

(1) Do " four frequently " and " four more "

" Four frequently " mainly includes frequent recitation, frequent reading, frequent practice, frequent summary, in detail:

Firstly, recite frequently. In English learning, there are many new words and phrases are involved, so we need to actively remember, understand and master their usage, and deepen our memory by means of synonym and antonym and similar comparison methods^[1]. Although this process can be tedious, but for English learning, without the recitation is a ship without a rudder.

Secondly, read frequently. Reading is an important method of English learning, and it is also an effective way to improve English learning. For the reading content, it should not be limited to the textbook, and not for the purpose of reciting, but will focus on the correct pronunciation, mood and other aspects. In the effective development of reading, it can not only learn, master the words and the relevant grammar more quickly, but also better understand the English tone and context, so as to realize the effective improvement of the language intuition. It is remarkable that reading frequently needs to adhere to it for a long time and achieve an excellent effect.

Thirdly, practice frequently. Although in practical learning " sea tactics " method is not recommended to accept, however, do some exercises, can play a positive effect to high school students, effectively make up for their shortcomings in English learning. For example, cloze , it was belongs to the question of measuring comprehensive ability, so we can do more in daily learning, and then use the answer in detailed analysis, understand the intention of the topic and knowledge contained, etc. Only by continuous analysis, active practice, in order to improve the English level and test-taking ability.

Fourth, frequent summary. Compared with other subjects, English knowledge is presented in a scattered and trivial way, therefore, we need to pay high attention to summary. During this period, we also copy and record those fragmentary knowledge points the teacher mentioned that can lay a good foundation for the later review.

" Four more " mainly includes more watching, more listening, more talking, more practice, in detail:

Firstly, more watching. In recent years, the difficulty of English test questions has gradually increased, and it has begun to extend to all areas of daily life. Therefore, in high school stage, we should pay attention to our daily reading, expand the reading area, broaden our horizons and improve our English level for a long time.

Secondly, more listening. Listening test was added in the new college entrance examination. The ultimate goal of more listening is not simply to finish the exam, but to subtly improve the intuition of English language, to enhance the ability of discrimination and judgment.

Thirdly, more talking. The main purpose is to exercise our oral ability, enhance the understanding and master the knowledge learned in order to deepen our impression.

Fourthly, more practice. To do some appropriate exercises, it ' s not only enhance our practical experience but also be self-confidence to stay calm in high-pressure situation.

(2) Communication and cooperative learning methods

In the process of English learning, we should often communicate and cooperate with classmates. The ability of using language to do things gradually, this process can effectively improve our language, thinking, communication and cooperation ability. It also enables us to think more, talk more and practice more in mutual communication and cooperation, and then carry out high-quality communication in a relaxed and pleasant learning atmosphere to achieve more information exchange.

2. Rethink on English Learning Methods in Senior High School

(1) Self-shaping method

In the process of English learning, we should take a goal as the breakthrough point, analyze the reasons for the low learning efficiency, and explore the conclusion of the problems. We should be based on our own learning situation, make a learning plan consistent with ourselves, and can make a breakthrough for a certain learning point.

(2) Form good study habits

Firstly, actively ask questions, It ' s not only help us to carry out language learning but also cultivate personal growth habits ;

Then, before the start of the classroom teaching, to prepare the dictionary, software, record books and other school supplies, so that you can record uncertain points in period of time;

Finally, some beautiful language, sentences are copied down, as the content that needs to be recited. It should be noted that the purpose of recitation is not only recite, but also cultivate students ' language usage ability, deepen the word memory and language sense in the long-term persistence.

Conclusion: No matter in which subject, learning is a long-term persistence process, which needs to accumulate and increase the knowledge reserve in continuous learning and practice, so as to learn something. Therefore, in the high school English learning stage, we master the correct learning methods and skills, and experience the fun of English learning, so as to achieve the purpose of improving the learning efficiency. In addition, we need to constantly sort out and summarize in the learning process, so as to achieve breakthrough and improvement of language ability , and achieve the improvement of academic performance.

reference documentation:

[1] Ni-ki Yin. Talking about the high school English reading problems processing experience [J]. Campus English, 2017 (46): 114.

[2], Yang Aiqin.— English teaching experience in Senior High School [J]. New course teaching (electronic version), 2014 (05): 94-95.